When the company seemed fully assembled the president of the Fund, A. M. Palmer, spoke of the objects of the organization and of the purposes of the fair, which is expected especially to promote the plans for the proposed asylum for the orphans of actors. He read letters from Mme. Modjeska, Miss Fanny Davenport, Mrs. Clara Fisher Macder and others and then introduced Mrs. Kendal. Mrs. Kendal said that she thought that speaking on this subject was un-necessary, as charity appealed to everybody. She herself was ready to do everything in her power to was ready to do everything in her power to further so good an object. She said that she would add 8550 to the contribution of the same sum which she made to the asylum last summer. She believed that the women of the theatrical profession would do snything they could and she exhorted all to open their

It is a belief of the Police Commissioners and their force had they constitute the great power in this community. (Laughter.) Up to the present year this has been the case. But now there is an officer so infinitely superior to commissioners, inspectors, esptains, sergeants and pafformen that they have no mention when his name is up. By the decision of the Court of Appeals, the County Clerk elects or defeats whom he pleases regardless of the voters, the canvassers or returning boards, regardless of the policeman, who goes to bed thinking that he gave to every man the right to vote as he thought right. THE QUARREL OF THE NATION.

The cry of the newsboy to-day shrilly screaming the evening paper and its contents has startled this community as it has not been moved for many a day. Twenty nive years of peace and prosperity have rendered war an unknown condition and the word a strange and startling sound in our ears. The most of us here present can remember the thrill and the stillness of the bated breath and the tating heart when the news flashed through the country that Sumter had been fired upon. Many of us as well to the legiment march down Broadway. The saw the 7th Regiment march down Broadway. The saw the 7th Regiment march down Broadway. The passed the fraulte wenten whose brothers and sweethearts and sens had marched by. I never shall forget the contrast between this superb exhibition of the sciences and machinery of war and a young mother standing in a wagon, holding up her table for the recognition of the sciences and machinery of war and a young mother standing in a wagon, holding up her table for the recognition of the sciences and machinery of war and a young mother standing in a wagon, holding up her table for the recognition of the sciences and machinery of war and a young mother standing in a wagon, holding up her table for the recognition of the sciences and machinery of war and a young mother standing in a wagon, holding up her table for the paperance of the regiment prevented an adequate response.

We are a peaceful nation. Our thoughts, our habit, our interests, are all for peace. We are a people so great, our interests, are all for peace. We are a people so great, so numerous, so strong, with such unequalied resources, so numerous, so strong, with such unequalied resources, such incalculable wealth, that we can afford to submit to but dread as is the ordeal-of battle, if battle it must be, but dread as is the ordeal-of battle, if battle it must be, but dread as is the ordeal-of battle, if battle it must be, but dread as is the ordeal-of battle, if battle it must be, but dread as is the ordeal

The absence of the enemy, would seem to be their opportunity; but between them and the safety of the city, experience has taught us we can confidently rely upon the Metropolitan Police. (Applause.) In any energency, however great, in any danger, however imminent, in any erisis, however critical, in the alstory of this city, the New-York police never have failed to do their WORK GOING ON AT THE NAVY YARD.

MANY MEN EMPLOYED ON THE MAINE-THE

MIANTONOMOH NEARLY READY. At the Navy Yard last night everything was as peaceful as if there were no wars nor rumors of wars. Work on the Maine was being carried on yesterday with a vigor which was somewhat unusual, and the finishing touches were being given to the Miantonomoh. The officers and crew of the torpedo hoat Cushing are living on board the Vermont while the arrangements are being made to put the torpedo tubes in that craft. No orders had been received for the Miantonomoh to pro-ceed to sea or any other orders of a warlike nature. It was said that the Alarm, now lying in Whitney Basin, would be hauled out and go into commission shortly. The Alarm is a single-gun ship with a ram bow and facilities for three spar torpedoes. She is fitted with the Mallory propeller, which enables her to turn in her own length, and was designed by Admiral

Officers at the yard last night discussed the situafrom in a calm manner and exhibited no frenzied thirst for blood. They seemed, in fact, like other well-bred gentlemen who had a serious job on hand, and were anxious that everything should be done decently and in order.

it was the general impression that Admiral Walker had left Montevideo with his fleet and was steaming toward the Straits of Magelian and the great coal supplies at Funta Arenas. There was no definite in-formation of this, but it seemed to be in the air. So few ships are at the Navy Yard now that the gathering of officers in the after ward room of the old Vermont was not so great as usual, but the knot of officers which did gather there discussed little else except the Chillan situation. The general regret was that preparations for war had been so long delayed.

"For instance," said one officer, "there is the Cush-Ing. She has been running around for a long time!
She is almost a 'chestnut,' and yet her torpedo tubes, which should fave been placed in her when she was built, have never been placed there. It will not take long to put them in, but it will lake time, and time is valuable. When she gets the entire about alloat. She will just bristle with ma-cline and rapid-lire guns and can shoot torpedoes from her tubes, I hope with more accuracy than did the Almironte Condel when she sunk the

The system of marine mines, which the Army has charge of, for protecting the approaches to New-York was also discussed, for the Army and the Navy work hand in hand. A great deal of real work was done at the Navy Yard yesterday, in spite of the apparent peace which reigned there.

The "cheese-box" monitor Nantucket was ficated out of the dry-dock at the Navy Yard vesterday, and a probable that, even in the case of actual war with Chill, the Nantucket or any of the other stugle-turreted monitors that are being fitted out will be sent to the Pacific. The duty of these vessels will be to stay at the outer entrance to a harbor and prevent the entrance of unfriendly warships. These monitors, during the war, resisted the fire of the largest gens then mounted in this country, and the many deuts on their turrets prove that they did it successfully. Such vessels require only slow speed and little coal capacity, and, as they are well armored and carry large smooth-hore guns they make the surest defence of the port.

The Vennylus was floated out of the timber dry.

Mr. Mulford was a member of the class of '73 of Amherst College. He has patented six chocolate that he had made charge of insanity against Mulford at the request of the Rev. Dr. E. Winchester Donald, rector of the Church of the Dr. E. Winchester Donald, rector of the Church of the Ascension, Tenth-st. and Fifth-ave. Mulford, Dr. Donald, Mr. Huyler and a number of professional men in this city, it is said, were members of the class of 73 at Amherst. Mulford has been unfortunate, and for some time has been supported by his old classmates. He has been acting in such a strange-manner of late. however, that Dr. Donald and Mr. Huyler ceased to contribute to his support. Maiford wrote a number of threatening letters to Dr. Donald and Mr. Huyler. A few days ago he sent a carving knife to Dr. Donald, asking Dr. Donald to care for it, as it would be safer in Dr. Donald's hands than it would in his. Dr. Donald, fearing that Mulford would injure himself, provailed on Mr. Huyler to prefer a charge of insanity against Mulford.

Justice Grady committed Mulford for examination

The Rev. Dr. Donald said last night that Mulford us to his sanity. had been annoying and that the charge of insanity had been made at his request. He declined to give the details of the case, however.
